Accuscale Weigh Count Workstation for Autobag Baggers

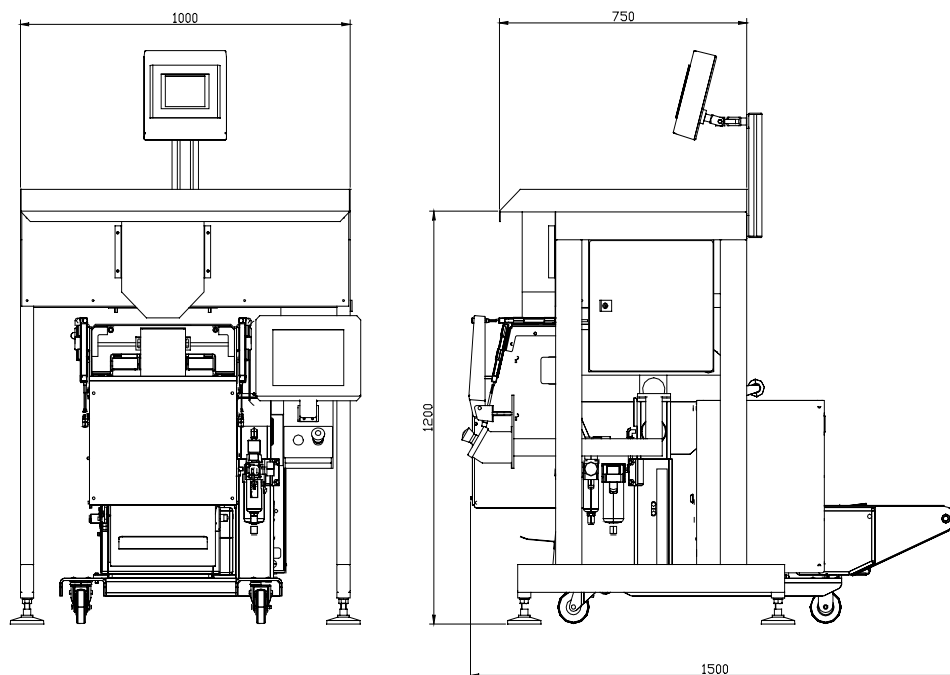

The Comcount Accuscale unit is an operator workstation with an integrated weigh/count unit designed specifically to work in conjunction with an Autobag AB Range Bagger/Printer to produce a highly efficient semi automatic counting and bagging system.

The unit basically consists of an ergonomic workstation with stainless steel loading tray, a weighpan unit mounted on a high precision load cell weighing mechanism and a Siemens control system with touch screen display.

The operator manually loads the parts to be packed from the worktable into the weighpan. When the correct weight or count is achieved the weighpan discharges automatically operating the Autobag Bagger / Printer.

The Accuscale unit is suitable for use with a wide range of industrial, technical and medical components and is extremely effective in packing shorter production runs with frequent product changes.
